Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4,7 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 specifies a first portion of the waveguide connected to a first housing and a second portion "connected thereto". It is not clear what the second portion is connected to. For the purposes of examination, it will be assumed the second portion is connected to the microprocessor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-2,4-10 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shain et al. (USP 6,027,349), Douglas et al. (USP 5,951,492), Moerman et al. (USP 6,706,159) or Stiene et al. (2004/0096959) in view of Eason et al (USP 5,186,897).

See the appropriate paragraph of the 3/29/07 Office action for the teachings of Shain et al. (USP 6,027,349), Douglas et al. (USP 5,951,492), Moerman et al. (USP 6,706,159) and Stiene et al. (2004/0096959) supra.

These references are silent to use of an optical waveguide and the claimed "destructive fluids for neutralizing substances".

Eason et al. teach in columns 2-3 lines 15-7 respectively teach optical waveguides are advantageous because they eliminate the need to separate and wash the sample.

It would have been within the skill of the art to modify Shain et al. (USP 6,027,349), Douglas et al. (USP 5,951,492), Moerman et al. (USP 6,706,159) or Stiene et al. (2004/0096959) in view of Eason et al. and use an optical waveguide to gain the above advantages.

It is well known in the art that blood is a biohazard and contact with blood should be avoided. It is also well known in the art that biohazard materials can be neutralized of most pathogens by inexpensive disinfectants. It is desirable to neutralize pathogens in blood sample to minimize the chance of infection by the technician or person(s) responsible for the disposal of blood samples. It would have been within the skill of the art to modify Shain et al. (USP 6,027,349), Douglas et al. (USP 5,951,492), Moerman et al. (USP 6,706,159) or Stiene et al. (2004/0096959) and incorporate a disinfectant to neutralize the previously analyzed blood sample to gain the above advantages.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6/27/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants' amendments and remarks have clarified the 35 USC 112 second paragraph issues and those rejections have been vacated.

Applicants' state the optical waveguide of Eason et al. is not connected to a processor. First, the Office notes Eason et al. is only relied upon to teach the advantages of an optical waveguide and the primary references Shain et al. (USP 6,027,349), Douglas et al. (USP 5,951,492), Moerman et al. (USP 6,706,159) and Stiene et al. (2004/0096959) teach the processor. Secondly, the Office believes the "fluorescence detector" taught by Eason et al. (e.g. see column 7 lines 50+) would properly read on the claimed "processor" (e.g. the fluorescence detector would process the fluorescence data).

Applicants' state none of the cited prior art teaches the claimed two housings of claim 4. The Office maintains each references has a first housing attached to the sample acquisition means and portion connected to the microprocessor which has been read on the claimed second housing .

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
